

Newsletter - June 2025

June 17, 2025

Well Cell's 2025 Invitational Conference held on June 5-7 at the Westin Hotel-Memorial City on Houston's West side was a Big Success! Among the reports we received from Conference attendees:

"This was the Best One Ever!"

"Amazing Quality of Speakers!"

"I planned on a half-day, but it was so good I stayed for both days!"

The Westin Hotel food and staff got rave reviews, and all who were present increased their knowledge about PIR, general health matters, and what the future holds for us!

Well Cell's DIABETES CENTER OF EXCELLENCE®
CHAMPION Award was presented to two licensees:

Innovative Diabetic Center, Scottsdale
AZ
Diabetic's Choice, Sarasota FL

CONGRATULATIONS to all involved in providing Physician-Directed Physiologic Insulin Resensitization® for your patients! In the near future, Well Cell will be posting criteria for nominating or applying for this new award.

NextGen PIR made its official debut at the Well Cell Annual Conference in Houston! This advancement in Well Cell's technology will help with decreased infusion time for providers and patients, infusion cost reductions, and increased patient satisfaction!

The Top Five Performers in the Well Cell Entrepreneurship Project for the 2024-2025 Global Leadership Program of the University at Buffalo School of Management were presented Achievement Award Certificates and Letters of Authority to represent Well Cell as independent contractors in their respective countries. The winners were Javere Green (Jamaica), Oksana Mandziuk (Ukraine), Anete Savicka (Latvia), S. Vishnu Nampoothiri (India), and Hilda Nyarkoa Bekoe (Ghana) (not pictured as she was unable to attend the conference). Scott Hepford and University Representative Dorothy Siaw- Asamoah are pictured with the winners. This project brought together graduate students from partner universities in 20 countries, and a total of 75 participants were accepted. In teams of 4-5 they engaged in extensive research, several meetings with CEO Scott Hepford, and worked with each other as they honed critical skills needed to succeed in a changing world. Congratulations to all!

Parting Words

As we have closed out this year's Conference, let's carry forward the energy and insights we've shared. Together, we're not just advancing treatments, we're re-defining what's possible for patients worldwide. Your commitment to excellence and innovation is what drives this mission forward. So let's keep building, learning, and making an impact!